FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Marietta, GA, USA (Free-Press-Release.com) September 10, 2010 – Mothers impart knowledge to their elementary schoolers daily; but, do they realize the insight they can glean from little ones, instead?

“Moms could use a refresher course,” Cherise Bopape says, “not necessarily in reading or writing—but in familial relationships.” Inside Lessons From the Littlest, Bopape shares thirty-one homespun stories that show mothers how to be cognizant of God at work in their lives as they interact with their young children. Corroborated with Scripture and ending with prayer, each chapter leaves mothers with a new perspective on their relationships—first with the Lord, and then, with their young children.

Whether seasoned, novice, or expectant, all mothers are invited to meet Cherise Bopape from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, September 25, 2010, at The Book Worm Bookstore (4451 Marietta Street, Powder Springs, GA 30127). During this time, she will sign copies of her devotional book, Lessons From the Littlest. Admission is free and a door prize will be offered.

Cherise Bopape is an author, freelance writer, blogger, and speaker. She encourages single moms, inspires mothers with young children, offers tips for women who struggle with work-life balance, and provides hope for victims of domestic violence. She volunteers on the advisory board for Dream Again, Inc., a non-profit organization that serves single mothers. Having been a guest on various television and radio programs, Cherise Bopape has also written articles for The Lookout Magazine, MustardSeedMinistries.org, and various newsletters for non-profit organizations.
